

Weekly Update – Week 1

August 27

The first week of school is always filled with energy, exhaustion, lots of new routines, and excitement about the year ahead. I have felt all of these things and more this past week, and I'm sure your child has too. I have already had so much fun getting to know your students and can tell that it is going to be a wonderful year of learning ahead! St. Mary School is a blessing and I feel so honored to be a part of the family again this year.

Join our class on Remind, a texting app used for schools.

This tool will allow you to communicate with me quickly as it pushes directly to my phone and my watch.

1st Grade Fast Facts

- Don't forget that we take time each morning to have a snack. Sending your child with a healthy snack every day will ensure that their bodies & brains are prepared for our learning.
- Morning drop off starts at 8:30. Please don't drop your students off before that as there is no supervision.
- Student agendas will begin coming home next week. This will be another tool you can use to communicate with me and will also list your child's homework. Please initial the agenda each night on the designated line so that I know you've seen anything inside.
- Homework will begin after Labor Day. You can expect a math worksheet each night Monday-Thursday as we start off the year.
